

LEADERSHIP IN SENIOR MANAGEMENT

QUALITY LEADERSHIP IN YOUR ORGANISATION

Become a senior strategic leader.

A USA survey about Senior Team Leadership found that approximately three quarters of companies worldwide are not confident in their capability to effectively fill strategic leadership and senior management roles in their organisations.

With the complexities of change facing business today, the need for senior strategic leaders, who can formulate and execute business strategies with success, is seen as critical to the very survival of the business. The importance of recruiting, identifying and preparing effective leaders remains one of management's highest priorities.

For leaders to define how they will lead and inspire their people is a process that requires a great deal of thought, in addition to the analysis of skills, qualities and characteristics required to ensure their organisation thrives.
